Chimney Swifts

These gray, cigar-shaped birds are easily identified by their flight style and chattering call. Chimney Swifts spend most of their lives in the air - not one to perch, a chimney swift clings to walls in chimneys, hollow trees or caves. Should you encounter these endangered, protected unexpected guests in your chimney this summer, plan on their extended stay through mid-October when migration takes place. A chimney cap will ensure your feathered friends find a new residence next time they are in town.
